

L&C Homebuilders installs officers

The Lewis and Clark Homebuilders Association recently held its annual membership social and installation of officers. Dennis Arnold, president of the South Dakota Homebuilders Association, was in attendance to conduct the installation of officers.

Officers installed for 2012 are: President, Tim Frohreich; Vice President, Dave Naslund; 2nd Vice President, Nick Kisch; Secretary, Joe Morrow; Treasurer, Al Schumacher. Lewis & Clark Homebuilders new Executive Officer Steve Kirby was introduced and Immediate Past President Gerald Rupiper was presented a plaque of appreciation.

The Lewis & Clark Home Builders Association is a non-profit organization consisting of builders and associate members serving the people of a five county area. Their objective is to provide the community with quality builders and business people to assist them with their building needs as well as keeping them informed of the latest products, technology, services and legislative issues pertaining to the building industry.

As a local chapter of the South Dakota Home Builders Association and proud members of the National Association of Home Builders, Lewis & Clark HBA has access to many resources to help obtain their objectives.
