DIESEL EXHAUST FLUID (DEF)
YOUR KEY TO FUEL-SAVING CASE IH SCR TECHNOLOGY

CNH ORIGINAL PARTS CASE IH AGRICULTURE

Diesel Exhaust Fluid and Selective Catalytic Reduction Technology

Diesel Exhaust Fluid (DEF) is a non-toxic solution made up of purified water and pure automotive-grade urea. DEF is not a fuel, or fuel additive. In a Selective Catalytic Reduction (SCR) system, DEF is injected into the tractor exhaust stream through a controlled 'dosing' module which varies the application rate. The DEF fluid vaporizes NOx emissions and converts them into harmless nitrogen gas and water vapor-natural components of the air we breathe. By moving the emission solution downstream, Case IH is able to tune the engine for power and performance, saving an average of 10% operating cost primarily through enhanced fuel economy.
